

Ir. Didik Suprayogo, MSc. PhD

Brawijaya University, Malang,
East Java

Indonesia

Biography

Mr. Didik Suprayogo brings long experience to the position of agroforestry and watershed management specialist. He has 30 years of professional work on natural resources management in some areas in Indonesia, providing applied research, teaching, training, strengthened farmer group and local official government, consultancy and, technical assistance. Since 1984, Dr. Suprayogo has worked on natural resources management in East Java, Lampung, South Kalimantan, East Nusa Tenggara, West Nusa Tenggara and, South Sulawesi. In international level, he has long cooperation with World Agroforestry Centre for watershed management (9 years), delivery training on Agroforestry modelling in Kenya and Thailand, and actively participates on land degradation and agroforestry management workshop / symposium in Philippine, Thailand, Australia and UK. Initially trained as an soil scientist in Brawijaya University, continuing with soil and water management in Wageningen Agriculture University and agroforestry management specialist, with a Ph.D from Imperial Collage, London University.

Email address: suprayogo09@yahoo.com